Airbus Attends Singapore Airshow

Start Discussion

Airbus will attend the Singapore Airshow, taking place in Singapore from 19th to 24th February. The manufacturer's participation will feature an A380 development aircraft, which will take part in the daily flying schedule and will also be on view at the static display area throughout the week. Visitors to the show will be able to find out more about the entire Airbus product line at the indoor stand of its parent company EADS, located in the main hall (H23) of the new Changi Exhibition Centre. The exhibit will feature scale models of the A380, new widebody A350 and the popular single aisle A320. Airbus executives will be present at the EADS chalet (row CD12 to CD18). Airbus will hold a press conference on Wednesday 20th February, starting at 10h15, with Airbus President and CEO, Tom Enders and John Leahy, Airbus Chief Operating Officer, Customers. Members of the media covering the air show are invited to attend.
