

SINGAPORE AIRSHOW 2010 Closed On a High Note

The Singapore Airshow 2010 was held from the 2-7 February 2010 at the Changi Exhibition Centre and continues to be a choice platform for trade visitors and aviation enthusiasts.

Despite the global downturn, the aviation industry is seen to be on the upswing as the event was greeted with tremendous support from industry players, solidly maintaining its position as Asia's largest and top three aerospace and defence events in the world. It continues to be the only event of its kind that brings together heads of the international aviation community, including key political and military leaders. This year, the Airshow again closed on a high note with deals and announcements worth about US$10 billion.

Singapore Airshow 2010 attracted the largest number of high-level foreign dignitaries from around the world. The total number of foreign delegations grew from 240 from 61 countries in 2008 to 259 government and international delegations from 80 countries this year. Among the visiting aviation industry leaders were 27 airline CEOs as well as the heads of the International Air Transport Association (IATA) and the International Civil Aviation Organisation (ICAO).

More than 43,400 trade attendees from 133 countries visited Singapore Airshow 2010. The two public days were also well received with some 73,512 visitors thronging the grounds.
